Hola!

July 9, 2010

We had a rip-roarin' good time this week at camp! Our trip to the Lincoln Park Zoo was a grrreat success! Some of us got to meet a Corn Snake and others watched the seal training show. In science class the dudes and dudettes prepared for the beach field trip by tie-dying their, like, totally awesome beach bags. In Entertainment the campers made puppets and performed for each other. We especially got a kick out of Ruben's Ghostbuster puppet! Who you going to call? Not Ghostbusters, but maybe the fashion police. In Art the blue girls are 'Making it Work' for their upcoming 'Designer Challenge T-Shirt Competition' on Friday. For Tuesday, water day, Haas Park had the sprinklers on, so we had the chance to beat the heat and cool down. All this heat makes us wish it was October ... On this upcoming Monday we will be celebrating Halloween in July, so come to camp ready with your costume! Next week's field trip to the Jelly Belly Factory is sure to be sweet! Just a reminder, we will be returning late so if you usually pick up your lil' jelly bean at noon please pick them up at 2:00 and thank you for doing so.

See ya later alligator!
