**Sorry for the delay -- newsletters normally go out Friday evening, but the Friday storms knocked out our power and our server offline!

Aloha Parents and Campers!

Friday, June 18, 2010

We got really nutty this week as usual. Here are the past five fun-packed camp days in a nutshell. On Monday, the place was filled with lots of Chicago sports team t-shirts. Cubs, White Sox and the Bears were all well represented but without a doubt Blackhawk t-shirts were the CHAMPIONS.

Tuesday, was a tongue twister: we got super-soaked and silly sliding on the slip-n-slide in the sun (phew!). In art class we painted race cars and underwater seascapes. We talked about the oil spill and proposed solutions for cleaning up the Gulf. We had some pretty darn good ideas, like plugging the spill with a giant wine cork. Anyone have BPs phone number?

Speaking of Gulf ehem I mean golf the campers played mini-golf in the front yard and worked on team building with parachute games. Thanks again for agreeing to a last minute field trip change! On Thursday, we enjoyed a nice walk and channeled our inner Dude as we rocked out at the Rock n Bowl. Who knew the preschoolers had amazing strength? I think a few of their bowling pitches broke 2 mph!

Were not in Kansas anymore, but the twisters followed us all the way to science class when we learned about tornados and made our own weather machines. I scream, YOU scream, WE all scream for ICE CREAM CAKE in cooking class, and mm-mmm it was yummy!!

Watch out Kate Goselin! Camp St. John Berchmans had their own version of Dancing with the Stars We all met in the church basement and rocked to Disco and Dance music and wrapped up the week with popsicles on the playground.

Well, thats our nutty week! We are looking forward to next week which will be the start of school supplied lunches, Police Safety on Monday, and the Shedd Aquarium on Thursday! Im so pumped!

Enjoy the weekend!

Aloha
